Recent events have put Private Schools on notice of their requirements to confront exposures relating to the safety of students that are in their care, custody and control. These events include sexual abuse, violence and natural disasters. In addition, the threat of a flu pandemic can't be ignored. A business continuity plan that addresses these risks is not just an exercise in good governance, but a moral and ethical requirement imposed upon an organization entrusted with the welfare of other people's children.

Firestorm was created in the aftermath of 9/11 and Hurricane Katrina to help organizations manage critical issues. Firestorm's proprietary process and unique methodology enables clients to design and implement rational solutions to significant issues. We have a strong focus on vulnerability identification and risk mitigation.

Firestorm's Crisis Solution Architects division focuses on helping organizations identify problems and opportunities through a business continuity and crisis planning process.

The expertise and resources of our Preaction Architects, turn an organization's business continuity planning into a key strategic asset. This division can help Private Schools create a plan which will protect its revenues, employees and members in the event of many possible disasters. For those Private Schools that choose to plan beyond the normal business requirements, the next level of BCP is true vulnerability analysis and crisis management.

Private Schools experience a unique set of exposures and a tremendous responsibility above and beyond most businesses, insofar as they are entrusted with other people's children. Operating in the education industry demands a higher level of security, oversight and protection when tasked with the care, custody and control of minors. Firestorm offers schools a menu of options for their BCP needs.

Firestorm's Critical Decision Support division is comprised of business analysts, lawyers, and other specialists. Our experts are familiar with the laws, rules and regulations surrounding many public and private industries including financial services, insurance, banking, energy, chemical, manufacturing, education and others. Our proprietary process for analyzing issues can help develop solutions to issues outside of the BCP process as well

A business continuity plan written within a disaster-preparedness context becomes a value-added series of checks-and-balances, protecting the Private School. Having a solid Business Continuity Plan that has been tested and implemented may be the distinguishing variable a parent considers in helping their child choose one school over another.

If your company had to respond now, would you be ready?
